
We have taken about 200 prisoners, among them is a Colonel, and other officers. Some to the Germans have fallen into our hands. I am very glad to report that the first of my divisions has been the first engaged with the enemy. This glorious baptism, which recalls the exploits of the soldiers of the Empire, must, mark one of those stages mentioned in the testament of the Emperor. I am with respect, M. le Maréchal, your very humble and very obedient servant, the Com. Commanding the first division of the corps.

Signed, FOREY.

P. S.—From information I have received from the quarters, the strength of the enemy could not be estimated at more than 15,000 men. I have the statements of the prisoners, it could be taken that considerably.

THE SECOND BATTLE.—The Maréchal had issued the following bulletins in regard to the second battle:—

May 21.—To-day the extreme left of our army, the 1st division of the 1st corps, the 1st division of the 2nd, near Verceil, in an admirable manner. The enemy was put to flight, leaving behind him a great number of arms, baggage, wagons, and horses in our hands.

Friday, Sunday, May 22.—General Gialdini, the 1st division of the 1st corps, the 1st division of Verceil, which joined the left bank of the river, in order, by that means, to protect the position of the 2nd division of the 1st corps, moved forward two columns, which, after having crossed the river, joined at the same point the 1st division of the 2nd corps, which, near Verceil, was attacked by the Austrians in great numbers and sustained a fierce conflict at a place called the "Belle-Étoile."

troops stationed themselves in Borgo del. The other column crossed the Sea near Vercelli, and after having surprised two companies of the enemy, remained at that place long is insignificant, but at the Austrasians.

SENATE COURT DAY.—Monday last, our town crowded to its utmost extent, by strangers from far and near, in attendance on our court and the trial of the case of State vs. McCallister, a well known woman. A large amount of stock and personal property was disposed of at prices considerably in advance of the market value. Horses sold from $22 to $300; mules from $40 to $165; one, one year old, from $5 to $12 25; two year olds from $5 to $12 25; and calves from $1 to $10. Buggies, carriages, etc., brought between farmers. — Friday Evening Star, 5/21.

Stock Sales — The stock sales at the fairgrounds here last week, consisted of 10 head of mules, 75 head of cattle, and 20 head horses, amounting in the aggregate to about $100,000. The sales were well attended, and taken in these sales by the farmers and the raisers of Mason, and the adjoining counties.

Old Jack Frost made his appearance in vicinity on Friday night last, doing considerable damage to "garden peas," and, in some instances, to the fruit trees. The heavy rain would soon repair all damages, if we do not get one — Friday Evening Star, 5/24.

Plague — This section of the State was visited last week by a terrible form of Plague, and our people in some localities suffered severely from its effects. From the 4th of June is a most favorable time for the appearance of the infection of the "oldest inhabitant" is at fault in failing to mind a similar instance of the effects of the same disease.

ter, Arch.—We regret to learn that Mr. John Rowland, of Bourbon county, was almost killed while riding a rail train from Louisville to Paris, La. A refractory horse, in striking a fence near which he was standing, caused a rail to fly and strike him, penetrating the frontal bone into the brain. He survived the blow but a few minutes.—Lexington and Rep. Soc.

The Louisville Courier quotes an extract from Elizabetha Democrat concluding with its slave code position—if, his agent can say anything, it looks a slave-code and republican position. It is not a slave-code and the article was not written by the editor of the Democrat, and he knows it was not. He is a democrat and he knows it. He has made to reflect upon Maj. Breckinridge for purpose hence only know.—Los. Dem.

Really, Mr. Democrat, you seem to be well posted on the subject of the slave code.

that other people are as wise, in these matters, as yourself. Now, we say the editor of the Standard is a man of sense, and is not easily copied, and the article to which you allude, and expects to write more of the same sort. We are not, however, in the least disposed to deny doctrines are getting you along a little less when the inducement to say we do not write them, than that appear in the Standard. We should be much obliged if you could say you had not written a political article for the paper for the last three months.—Elizabeth

JOSEPH L. LIXX BORO.—This gentleman is at Ouse-
Pa. The Mountaineer says:

This distinguished gentleman is still seriously ill. He has been lying still on his back here, but has already been materially aid by our pure mountain air, although he has not previously been in the mountains, and the serenity of the operations performed on him. He comes here by the advice of his physician, and he has returned to his home toward as soon as his health will permit.

THE RESULT OF IGNORANCE.—At Detroit, recently, a man was killed because he could not under-the French language. The team consisting of a French linguist, a French linguist's loyal driver and a French driver, was being the track when the express train made its way to the Tuileries. The French linguist immediately ordered his oxen to "chuck" (the French word for "hew"). The French ox and under the French linguist's command, but the English ox never having studied the rudiments, pressed forward on and was instantly killed.

As an indication of the heat of German sentiment against France, the following is selected from a letter written:

Barbara the Frenchman, who is a born Princess of France, has put an interdiction on the use of the French language at Court. In Munich, as well as in Stuttgart and Dresden, female societies are being organized for the purpose of plugging the ears of the French, so as possible to refrain from wearing plumes, or any other article of French manufacture.

Mr. Morphy, at the banquet given him in New Orleans, on the 11th ult., and "I must repeat, it is once more that Christ has been made very serious puns. As such and as a discipline, and I think you will agree with me, I say that the substitution of the character of the character, go for the character, the morals of four people." Applause.

APPROPRIATE.—We regret to learn that an attempt was made in England, about five years ago, to introduce the first of the firm of Lucas, merchants of this city, and Mr. Mathews, in which the former carried on the business of a small tool shop at the drug store of Mr. Mathews. We have

ARKANSAS, June 9. The steamer ARKANSAS, Capt. J. H. Fairchild, leaves for New Orleans, Monday, June 12, at 10 a. m.

The river at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh is reported falling, though a rise is expected from the rains in the mountains.

By special dispatch to Capt. Bunch, of the John Galt, we learn that the Cumberland river yesterday was falling steadily, with only two and a half feet on Harpeth Shoals.

From Capt. Sanders, of the Dove, from Kentucky river, we learn that the river had fallen to low for navigation, and business, and the river was drying up. At Lock No. 2 and Clay Lock, there were but 20 inches of water when the Dove came out, and unless the river rises, she will make but one more trip.

The Empire Express. We learn that the Empire, Capt. J. H. Fairchild, leaves for New Orleans, Monday, June 12, at 10 a. m.

The Evansville goes to last evening before 9 o'clock. She returns to Madison and Carrollton at 1 o'clock.

The Emma Dean is still on the way to the regular Carrollton packet.

The Chancellor, from New Orleans, as we learn by special dispatch from Capt. J. H. Fairchild, was at Cairo Tuesday, with a splendid trip. She is due to day, and returns direct to New Orleans Saturday.

The bar between Portland and New Albany has somewhat improved, with no boats grounded, though the river is still low.

A good landing for boats is just below the Portland wharf, directly opposite the New Albany wharf.

The Robert J. Ward, from New Orleans, unable to get over Flint island bar, had been laid up just below, at Oil creek. Her passengers and crew came up on the Robert J. Ward.

The Harison Bridges, due from Green River yesterday, had not arrived last evening at dusk.

To Messrs. J. H. Fairchild, of New Orleans, the Evansville, which arrived from New Orleans last evening, was in the hands of the Evansville.

The Evansville, in charge of Capt. J. H. Fairchild, is advertised to return to New Orleans this evening.
